

SUSSONS RETURNS

PAUL SUSSONS, who left Wycombe Wanderers three weeks ago, is set to return to Loakes Park tomorrow (Saturday). Paul is in the Kingstonian side that visits Wycombe Wanderers in the Rothmans Isthmian League Division One.

Paul made his first team debut last Saturday at home to Sutton when the K's went down 4-0. This followed a 5-0 home defeat by Dulwich the previous week. How then, have Kingstonian managed to beat both Enfield and Hendon away from home?

These results sum up Kingstonian's main problem at the moment — consistency. Only recently have they been able to field a balanced side and there are five changes in the side that lost 1-0 to Wycombe in August. Tony Horseman scored the goal from a penalty.

England and Surrey cricketer Graham Rooth, famous for his diving slip catches, is now in goal while Glyn Sherman, Stewart Esslemont, Steve Perkins and Sussons are all new faces in the side. Former Wanderer Trevor Waughman has been injured recently and has not secured a regular first-team place this season, despite being second highest goalscorer with 10. Chris Proctor has 22 goals to his credit this term.

Despite their last two defeats, Kingstonian could present Wycombe with quite a few problems tomorrow. Conditions are bound to be difficult as they were last week against Dulwich and the Blues must show a much greater appetite for the game if they are to stay with the league leaders.

There is a chance that Paul Birdseye will return to the full back spot after having a run out in mid-week against British Colleges.
